REPORT CENTER HARBOR BRANCH RED CROSS

The most important step taken by the Center Harbor Branch of the A. R. C. during the past year, was that of withdrawing from the Laconia Chapter, and becoming a branch of the Sandwich Chapter, which was organized on October 15. The Chapter bids fair to become a very active one, and it seemed as tho this community could gain much benefit from joining it. The president of this branch becomes a member of its executive board, having the privilege of attending the meetings, and thus keeping in closer touch with the Red Cross work. Plans are being made for First Aid and Home Hygiene classes, which any member of the community would be welcome to join. The work of the local branch goes on just as it has in the past.

As the result of a branch being formed in Moultonboro, our membership has become considerably smaller. However, that branch now contributes its proportional share toward the hot lunches for the Village Schools. Holderness does the same for the West Center Harbor School.

A sum of money was received by the Laconia Chapter, and credited to the Center Harbor Branch, voluntary contribution to the Drought Relief Fund

The membership for 1932 is 70.

REPORT OF SCHOOL HEALTH WORK FOR CENTER HARBOR

To the Townspeople, School Board, and Superintendent of Schools:

This is the first year that Center Harbor has tried the plan of joining several towns to provide for the health supervision of her children. Following may be found a summary of the health situation and plans for meeting the needs.

The physical examinations were made as usual by Dr. Morrill. The results show that the children of Center Harbor are in better physical condition than the children of the average town. The following summary will show the results of this examination:

No. childrn, 69
No. defects, 72 1.0 per pupil
No corrections, 18 25 per cent of defects
No. without defect, 22 32 per cent of children

Defects noted:

Teeth	36
Tonsils	19
Adenoids	3
Malnutrition	5
Anaemic	1
Vision	3
Cardiac	3
Hearing	1
Glands	1

The first problem is the correction of some of the physical defects found at this examination. By "physical defect" is meant any condition which will retard the best mental or physical development of the child. This may mean infected tonsils or adenoids. It is generally admitted today that much of the rheumatism and heart troubles of middle life might have been prevented if proper attention had been given to infected tonsils and adenoids during childhood. Frequent colds, deafness, malnutrition, and a tendency to take childhood diseases more easily also result from neglected tonsils. The most common defect is that of decayed teeth. So much is being said and written about the proper care of children's teeth that it needs little mention here. Faulty vision is also a rather common defect. School children use their eyes constantly and defects of vision show up strikingly in the school room. Vision that grows progressively worse from year to year means plenty of trouble in later life. Most eye specialists admit that if they are given the care of defective vision cases early they can prevent the trouble from becoming worse and in some cases cure it entirely. This is the reason why we try to get our defective vision cases early.

For years it has been found that physical examinations show the country child in poorer physical condition than his more carefully supervised city cousin. Probably one of the reasons why the condition of the country child has always been found to be below the standard of the city child is because it is more difficult to get these physical defects corrected in the rural sections. Dentists, surgeons, hospitals, and eye specialists are within easy reach in the city not only as to distance but as to pocket-book.

What we desire to do in Center Harbor is to offer the community the equivalent of city advantages. This can be done by getting together a group who wish to have the advantages of the lowest rates and the greatest skill and organizing a "clinic." Although nearly half of the Center Harbor children go regularly out of town to the dentist, there are a great many who either can not get there or who can not afford private rates. We would like to have a dental clinic in Center Harbor. Most of the nearby towns have already had dental clinics this year. We can get a dentist to come to town and do the work, for the minimum charge of 50 cents for an extraction, for a cleaning, and for any filling except the white porcelain front filling, which is $1.00. We make a survey of the children's mouths making a rough estimate of the probable cost of the work and let those who can pay all or part of the cost do so. If there is any necessary work beyond the means of any child, we hope to raise some money locally to enable all necessary work to be done for every child. As soon as warm weather comes, a group of children who can not easily afford private rates can be taken to the hospital for tonsil operations where they will be cared for by the best available surgeon at a very small rate. We will also get together those who wish the services of a well recommended eye specialist. With the correction of these three major defects—decayed teeth, diseased tonsils, and impaired vision—the other defects will shortly take care of themselves.

While the corrective work is of immeasurable importance, it is by no means the only aim of the health objective. Correct health habits are very necessary if the child of today is to build up a constitution that will meet the demands of the life of our times in competition and endurance. The teachers are making an effort to put on a health teaching program. The children are not only learning the laws of healthful living but they are trying to form habits that apply them. Slowly they are learning and are forming better habits.

At the recent White House Conference, one of the resolutions drawn up in the "Children's Charter" wished "for every rural child as satisfactory schooling and HEALTH SERVICES as for the city child and an extension to rural families of social, recreational, and cultural facilities." This is the ideal that Center Harbor has set as the aim of her school program. May she soon attain the goal!

Respectfully submitted,

RUTH S. LANGILLE, R. N.,

School Nurse.

SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT

To the School Board and Citizens of Center Harbor:

The present enrollment in the Center Harbor Schools is as follows:

Center Harbor Village, upper grades	36
Center Harbor Village, lower grades	25
Center Harbor Town House	19
West Center Harbor	22
Total	102

Of this number 26 are from Moultonboro and 11 are from Holderness. This leaves 65 Center Harbor pupils in the four schools.

The teacher in the Center Harbor Village, lower grade is employed by Moultonboro. There are 12 pupils from Center Harbor in the Meredith High School and two at Plymouth High School. This makes a total of 79 resident pupils that Center Harbor is educating.

Pupils in Meredith High School: Caro Brown, Glenn Brown, Robert Cronin, Virginia Cronin, Nellie Eastman, Mabel Howland, Athalie Leighton, Beulah Libby, John Lunney, Olgar Weeks, Winifred Weeks and Samuel Eastman.

Mabel Howland is the only Senior.

George Haines and Edward Haines from West Center Harbor are attending the Plymouth High School.

There will probably be 18 Center Harbor pupils in secondary schools next year.

The marked changes in the schools for this year 1931-1932 are, first: The employment of Miss Carroll, who had been in the lower grades at the village, in the upper grades; secondly, the increased enrollment at the Town House School; third, the employment of a school nurse.

The conditions at the Town House School are not satisfactory. The building is too small to accommodate the increased enrollment that seems certain, and there is absolutely no playground.

Respectfully submitted,

E. W. SMALL.

THE HISTORY OF CENTER HARBOR SCHOOL

The first subject to attract the attention of the first settlers throughout New England was education. After the settlement of the town, such school districts were established as best served the public needs. The school houses were situated as near the center of the districts as possible. Yet it happened that some scholars were obliged to walk two or three miles to attend school.

Before the year of 1872, Center Harbor had five school districts of its own and three unions; one with New Hampton on the road leading from West Center Harbor to Ashland; one on McCrillis Hill, uniting with Holderness; and the other was here at the village connecting with Meredith and Moultonboro. In 1872 the part of Meredith in this district was annexed to Center Harbor. In each district the people elected their own officers and paid the school's expenses and the teacher's board. Usually the men of the district took turns in furnishing the fire-wood free for the school.

The school house at the Center Harbor Village was on the road leading to the wharf, near the present site of Mrs. Warner's home. When further use of this building as a school house was not required, it was turned into a store, operated by Simpson and French. In later years it was burned.

In all probability the school outgrew this building and an old church now remodeled, and owned by Philip Traversy, was used for a school building.

The summer terms usually began the first Monday in June, and the winter term began the first Monday in December.

In 1886 a law was passed that a school board of three should be elected and care for all schools in the town. It was at this time that the question of a school house at Center Harbor Village was raised. It really had no school house, as the one used was in Moultonboro.

The lot where our school house is now, was purchased for $100.00 from James L. Huntress, who was owner of the old Senter House that stood near where the library now stands. The original school house now used as the grammar room was built for $1,360.73.

At this time the district at the Neck and Center Harbor Hill were to be included in this district. In 1901 owing to the crowded condition, the addition of what is now a part of the primary room was added.

Center Harbor School is one of the few schools in the state where one teacher is employed by one town and the other teacher by another town. The primary room teacher is paid by the town of Moultonboro, while Center Harbor pays the grammar room teacher.
